Dear King Members, Friends, and Family:

Before I update you about what is happening today at King regarding the coronavirus, I'd like to wish you a safe and healthy weekend. I recognize that many people enjoy the costumes, candy and camaraderie that are typical of Halloween, but I hope you will remain vigilant in your efforts to protect yourself from the COVID-19 virus.

Despite our best efforts, we continue to see COVID-19 cases here on our campus. Today, I am reporting that seven more members and one more staff have tested positive for coronavirus since yesterday. However, while we celebrate the recoveries of nine members and six staff, we mourn the passing of one member who had COVID-19. Everyone here sends our condolences to that member's family and friends.

As always, please, please stay home as much as possible, wear a mask when you must go out, maintain at least six feet of distance between yourself and others, and wash your hands frequently – for your protection and ours. Thank you for your continued caution.

Sincerely,
